The Nearest Star.

One of the most clearly defined figures in the sky is the Northern Cross, which you will find at about 8 o'clock now directly overhead. It would be hard for you not to identify it. The head of the cross, the bright star Deneb, is toward the northeast, and the foot, Albireo, is toward the southwest. Thus the whole figure lies along the Milky way.The cross has no special mythological history, nor indeed has the constellation
Cygnus (the Swan) of which it is a part.
But Cygnus is famous for containing the star that is nearest to us of all the stars seen from this hemisphere, sixtyone Cygni, as it is called. It is a faint star immediately under Deneb and in the direction of the Square of Pegasus.
The astronomers have obtained the parallax of this star with something like accuracy, and they find that it is about 850,000 times as far from us as the sun is distant from the earth.—Philadelphia Times.Missionaries to Scotland.It seems odd to think of missionaries going to Scotland, the home of the Covenanters, to convert the savage inhabitants to Christianity. At Anwoth, in Kirkcubrightshire, there was found a few days ago one of the old "hillside crosses" set up by the early missionaries
who went to the lowlands from Iona, or Ireland, to mark the spots where they first preached Christ to the heathen Scots. This interesting cross is of red sandstone, 43 inches long, 14 1/4 inches across the widest part, and 4 inches thick. Its arms are 28 inches in length, or were, for one is broken off. Rude inscriptions are carved on the cross.—Lon-

Britain of the value of fourpence half-penny—nine cents—to be available for all postal, telegraphic and revenue purposes. It will be the first stamp issued of this value, and its issuance is cal-ed for by the new features of telegraph and parcel post business.Seeking Safety in a Lion's Den.A serious disturbance occurred on the Place de la Made at Clermont Ferrand on a late Tuesday evening. A negro tanner of the American circus named Jackers quarrelled with and stabbed a workman.
He then took to flight, pursued by a large crowd whose object was to lynch
him. Saved from the crowd by the police, Jackers took refuge in a lion's cage
in the circus. The tent was immediately surrounded by an exasperated multitude, who had a regular fight with the police and a number of soldiers.
The authorities succeeded with great difficulty in preventing the rioters from cutting the ropes holding the scaffolding of the circus together. After several hours order was restored and Jackers,
who had been calmly awaiting the end of the disturbance under the guard of his lion Sultan, came out of the cage and gave himself up to the police.—London Public Opinion.Patent medicines differ—One has reasonableness, another has not. One has reputation—another has not. One has confidence, born of success—another has only "hopes."Don't take it for granted that all patent medicines are alike. They are not. Let the years of uninterrupted success and the tens of thousands of cured and happy men and women, place Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription on the side of the comparison to which they belong. And there isn't a state or territory, no—nor hardly a country in the world, whether its people realize it or not, but have men and women in them
that're happier because of their discovery and their effects.Think of this in health. Think of it in sickness. And then think if you can afford to make the trial if the makers can afford to take the risk to give your money back,
as they do, if they do not benefit or cure
you.MALYDOROUR PRESCRIPTION SYSTEM has with every bottle

WHAT IF THE SHERMAN ACT WAS REPEALED.

What if the Sherman Act calling for the purchase of 4,500,000 ounces of silver bullion monthly was repealed? In the House a bill is already pending for the repeal of the Act, and the Secretary of the Treasury in a recent interview stated that he was deluged with letters and from people of all sections of the east, urging that the salvation of the country demands the immediate repeal of the Sherman Act.

So what if the Sherman Act was repealed? Is there any basis upon which to forecast the possible results to the country of the repeal of that Act?

The annual production of silver in the world is generally admitted to be a few million ounces more than the amount consumed in coinage and in the arts. The United States, under the present law, is the largest purchaser of silver bullion, requiring 54,000,000 ounces yearly, or about one third the world's annual product. To stop the purchase of that amount of silver would create an annual surplus, the production remaining constant, of about 60,000,000 ounces. Silver is now quoted at 82 cents an ounce. It is highly reasonable to suppose that the price of silver would then fall to 50 cents an ounce or less. What would be the logical effects of a sudden fall in the price of silver to 50 cents an ounce? The answer of this is the answer to the question of the results attending the repeal of the Sherman Act.

The United States has to find a foreign market for 68 per cent of all her cotton, and for 30 per cent of all her wheat. The price for which this surplus is sold determines the home price of these two great commodities. India also produces enormous quantities of cotton and wheat, a large portion of which must find a market in competition with that grown in the United States, in the markets of the world. Witness now the manner in which the price of silver determines the price of cotton and wheat in the United States. India coins silver at the rate of fifty to one. The European cotton and wheat broker buys an ounce of silver in New York or London for 30 cents. This ounce of silver, taken to India, is there coined into rupees to the valuation in our money of $1.25, with which he purchases that amount of cotton or wheat. If he buys the same in America he can only purchase 50 cents worth. In other words, where transportation is the same, cotton at eight cents a pound in the United States would be no cheaper to the European broker than cotton at 22 cents a pound in India, while wheat at 80 cents a bushel in the United States likewise would be no cheaper than wheat at $2.20 a bushel in India.

In 1873 cotton in the south was 10 cents a pound. To day, with silver at from 80 to 90 cents an ounce, it is but that price. Wheat has fallen in the same ratio. The repeal of the Sherman Act, if it caused a fall of 40 per cent in the price of silver, would cause a corresponding fall in the price of cotton, wheat and all other commodities in a greater or less degree, with which we compete with India in the world's markets.

The results of such a fall must necessarily be disastrous. No man need be called a creditor or a debtor who would picture the disastrous consequences of such a sudden fall in prices. Disasters not only to the debtor but to the creditor as well. It would begin by failures of debtor cotton planters in the south and debtor wheat growers in the Middle States, succeeding one another with startling rapidity. Farm securities of all kinds would depreciate, banks holding such securities must fail, because money not mortgages must meet their obligations. A financial crisis would occur involving ruin to a large proportion of the people of the country.

The real estate of the United States in the five States of Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, according to Mr. Porter's census, amounts to the starting sum of $1,774,233,211. Add to this twice as much more in the south and in other States not included, and an office dependent upon the maintenance of present real estate securities may be conceived, the shattering of which must precipitate a calamity whose scope and extent no mind can comprehend. Nor would the Government itself easily escape, for it is now on hand 154,000,000 ounces of silver bullion purchased at about $1.00 an ounce, which, under the circumstances, would depreciate in value one-half.

While it is the duty of every citizen of the United States who has his country's welfare at heart, to object strenuously to the repeal of the Sherman Act, yet it is not impossible that the repeal of that Act might be the surest and quickest means of giving free coinage for if the results attending the repeal were of the nature pointed out, there would be such an immediate and irresistible demand for the enactment of a free coinage law that even Judas Iscariot John Sherman with his cohorts might be brought in fear and trembling to vote for it.

The Rocky Mountain News says Nevada conferred a blessing upon the people of the whole United States when it stood up for Senator Stewart's reelection.

A HORRIBLE TRIPLE MURDER

Marysville and Vicinity Surrounded by Water.

JERRY SIMPSON IS A CANDIDATE

Kills His Mother, Wife and Child and Then Suicide.

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 26.—A horrible triple murder and suicide was discovered to-day in the upper flat of a tenement building at 31 Talbot street. Henry C. Varnum and his little adopted daughter Florence were dead, the wife was nearly dead when discovered and died on the way to the hospital, and Mrs. Wright, the mother of Mrs. Varnum, now lies at the hospital in a critical condition, unable as yet to talk or indicate in any way the story of the awful event.

Henry C. Varnum came to this city from Huron, Vt., in September, and went to work in the shop of L. L. Pollard. The family lived quietly and to all appearances happily. Mrs. Varnum was a regular attendant at Hope Congregational Church, where she sang in the choir. Her husband and little daughter often accompanied her. Mrs. Varnum was not present at the services on Sunday, and the pastor, Rev. E. W. Phillips, remarked her absence and expressed some surprise, saying Mrs. Varnum was not the sort of woman to stay at home because it was cold. Mr. Phillips to-day went to the Varnum house and rang the bell, but received no answer. He called up the occupant of the middle dwelling, who said he had not heard anything from the Varnums. Mr. Phillips went upstairs immediately, and passed through the parlor into the back parlor and then into the kitchen. He then pushed open the door of the bedroom leading off from the kitchen, and a terrible sight met his eyes.

Lying on the bed covered with blood were Varnum and his wife. The man was quite dead, but the woman was breathing feebly. In a cot in the corner of the room lay the child turned over on its face, also dead. Phillips waited to see no more, but rushed downstairs and telephoned for the police.

When the police arrived, the mother, Mrs. Wright, was discovered in an adjoining room. She was conscious, but not able to speak, though she understood what was said to her. The bodies of this man and child were removed to an undertaker's and the woman carried to the hospital. Mrs. Wright is still unable to speak, but may live. She is about 80 years of age.

The weapon with which the awful deed was committed was an iron strap about fifteen inches long, beaked by a cylindrical knob. The instrument weighed fully four pounds. Varnum himself was killed by a stab from a knife identical as his own. He was cut in the region of the heart. There were no other marks upon the body. There was no sign of violence about the house outside the bedroom.

Mrs. F. F. Hall, who lives in the tenement below, says she heard slight sounds from the child about 5 o'clock Sunday morning. The noise ceased immediately, and she thought nothing of it.

Marysville Surrounded by Water.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Dec. 26.—The city is surrounded by water on all sides. Thousands of acres of grain are flooded. The water is very high in the Yuba river and it is feared that some week point may be struck in the levees or that the levees being so thoroughly soaked may give way. Many have removed their household effects up stairs, this afternoon. The levee district of Sutter county broke last night, as also the Kidston levee. Cattle and hogs are reported drowned on the old Brannan ranch. Boats were sent out by Mayor Kidston on a train to Marcuse station to rescue 200 head of beef cattle which were, however, rescued from the water before their arrival. The country for miles around Marysville is under water. The city levees are considered to be able to stand seven more feet of water. Men patrol the levee for seven miles, day and night. The river is rising slowly again to-night.

Defensive and Not Rebellious.

BIRMINGHAM, I., Dec. 26.—D. W. Leasure, who has been on trial for the murder of Ivory Beane and for conspiracy in the Coeur d'Alene mining riots last July has been acquitted by a jury in the Superior Court. The result of the trial was very important as it virtually decides that there was no conspiracy in Coeur d'Alene and that the acts of the union miners were defensive and not rebellious. Leasure was jointly indicted with forty-two others upon four charges as follows: Conspiracy, murder of Ivory Beane, blowing up of the Pease mill and violating an injunction of the U. S. District Court. It is believed the other cases will never come to trial.

Blaine Better.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—"Mr. Blaine is getting along nicely," was Dr. Johnston's statement this evening. The physician had just emerged from the house where he had remained with the distinguished patient just thirty minutes and so well satisfied was he with the improvement shown that he does not expect to return to the house again to-night.

The Stanfords an Easy Winner.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26.—There were 8,000 people at Athletic Park this afternoon to witness the contest between the Stanford and Los Angeles football teams. This is the biggest crowd ever present at the grounds. The Stanfords easily outplayed Los Angeles in the first half—Stanford 6 goals, 5 touchdowns, 34 points; Los Angeles 0. The second half of the game was worse for Los Angeles than the first. Los Angeles was not in it at all. The final score was 72 to 0 in favor of the Stanfords.

Scarlet Fever at the White House.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Little Martine Harrison, the President's grandchild, is reported to be a trifle easier to-day. Her ailment proves to be a genuine case of scarlet fever. The White House will be closed to the public until it is again free from the disease.

Ten Merry-makers Drowned.

SIDNEY, N. S. W., Dec. 26.—A yacht with a party of twenty-three merry-makers on board was capsized in the harbor this afternoon by a heavy squall. Ten of the party were drowned.

Jerry Simpson a Candidate.

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 26.—Congressman Jerry Simpson has put all doubts to rest concerning his candidacy for the United States Senate by announcing he is a candidate.

Mrs. Langtry Has a Relapse.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Mrs. Langtry, whose condition was reported as better yesterday, has suffered a serious relapse.

Weather Forecasts.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—The weather predictions for Nevada are clearer and colder.

Society in Pioche.

It seems there are about fifteen "sets" or grades of society in Pioche, and if a person belonging to one grade happens to venture where another grade predominates or she, as the case might be, is unceremoniously and intentionally slighted. This is not as it should be. God created all persons equal, and as long as a person acts with the decorum as becomes a lady or gentleman they are entitled to consideration as such, notwithstanding the fact that they do not belong to that particular "set." We have known of a number of just such cases in which highly respected ladies and gentlemen have passed a most unpleasant evening, and it only shows forth more forcibly the ignorance and ill manners of these gentry of doing this. Among the gentler sex especially is this fact most patent. There seems to be a sort of jealousy among the ladies which none can fathom, and it would require one more versed in human nature than us to solve the problem.—Ferguson Lodge.

We Humbly Apologize.

The Reno Journal prints Bert McInnis's adventure with a wood rat under the head of "A Small Boy and a Rat." When Bert heard of this last evening he vowed vengeance and told an independent reporter confidentially that nothing but the blood of the Journal man would appease his wrath. In order to put Bert's calumny on his guard and thus perhaps save bloodshed, the Independent feels it its duty to say that the "small boy" in question stands nearly six feet in his shoes and weighs about 175 pounds and is quite handy with his dukes.—Elko Independent.

Spanish Springs Entertainment.

A pleasant and entertaining programme was rendered last Friday evening by the pupils of the Spanish Springs valley school before an appreciative audience of parents and visitors. The able rendition of the various selections bespeaks the training ability of the teacher and the enterprise of the pupils. Miss Christine Elliott, the popular teacher, received a substantial compliment in the way of a handsome present at the close of the entertainment.

A Superb Edition.

The Christmas Columbian souvenir number of the Salt Lake Herald is without exception the most artistic special edition of any daily newspaper ever published on the coast. It is in the form of a magazine 15x20 inches in size with handsome lithographed covers, and contains thirty-two pages of valuable reading matter relative to the history and resources of Salt Lake and vicinity.

Don't forget that F. Levy & Bro. are selling their enormous stock of dry goods, etc., at lower prices than ever.

Deserve Attention.

If you have money to invest in Reno real estate, either in large or small amounts, the Reno Real Estate and Investment Company offers most particular inducements to you. By investing in its shares of stock you participate in its investments which are governed by its able and experienced Board of Trustees, consisting of Mr. O. T. Bender, Mr. Sol Levy, Mr. C. O. Powning, Mr. Geo. F. Turritt and Mr. A. G. Fletcher. The principle object of the company is to purchase and improve centrally located business property in the city of Reno. Everyone is of one mind as to the desirability of such investments.

The company is incorporated with a capital of $100,000, divided into 20,000 shares of the par value of five dollars each, and from its already large list of share holders there is every reason to believe that it is destined to become one of the most flourishing companies in the State. Of its 20,000 shares there have been 12,000 sold since August 1st.

Its shares are sold upon the monthly installment plan of ten cents per share, installments to range over a period of fifty months. In this way persons of moderate means are enabled to combine and participate in investments that usually only fall to the lot of the fortunate capitalist. Mr. F. M. Lee, the Secretary of the company, will be pleased to furnish any desired information.

Why Throw Away Money?

What method is there in throwing away money in procuring clothing, boots, shoes, underwear, shirts, tobacco, cigars, blankets, and in fact numbers of other necessities, when by purchasing them at Russek's auction rooms, two doors north of Coffin & Larocomb's store, you can save from 50 to 75 per cent on every purchase. There are no shoddy auction goods offered, but as fine a stock of gentlemen's wear as can be found anywhere in the State. The prices received at night govern the prices for the succeeding day. Call around and secure bargains.

For Over Fifty Years

FORMATION OF CORAL
HOW THE POLYPS DO THEIR SILENT YET LASTING WORK.
The Lovely Sea Anemones and What is Made from Their Skeletons—Polyps Do Not Toll; They Simply Die—Beautiful Animal Vegetables.
The term "coral insect" survives in literature, although science discarded it long ago. Possibly the idea of "toll" and "patience" and "building for the future," as the lesson taught by the coral insect, also survives to point a moral and adorn a tale of the same order as one praising the industry of the ant or the bee. Alas for old beliefs! Our grandmothers were exhorted to reflect on the vanity of the moth and the butterfly. Now it is known that the moth and the butterfly are among the chief agents by which the most beautiful and fragrant flowers are fertilized, and that honey and perfume and color and fruit largely depend upon the energy of the insects formerly despised. The other so-called insects have no more energy than a simple vegetable existence. Their toll is nothing greater than dying and leaving their skeletons behind them.
But how beautiful are these skeletons, or a conglomerated accumulation of myriads! And how beautiful and interesting, too, the animal vegetable, or rather flowerlike animals. "Sea anemones" is the popular name given to the whole tribe, with their disklike mouths, their petaloid tentacles, their stomach suggesting seed vessels and their fixed bases corresponding to stout stems, to say nothing of their brilliant colors, rivaling the most gorgeous corollas ever blown.
According to Dr. Gustav Eisen, there are two kinds of corals of the sea anemone order—those which produce coral, that is, the hard, calcareous formation, and those which do not. The popular term "coral," as applied to the accumulated dead skeletons of the dead polyps, is not strictly correct; coral, properly speaking, refers also to the living animal.
The sea flower, although suggesting a plantlike structure, is still a true animal. It has a skin, also rudimentary nerves. It can swallow and digest its food and pour out the refuse from its mouth; it can defend itself from its enemies by forcibly ejecting poison from its many stings. It has some sensation. Quite a number of species of polyps have rudimentary eyes, arranged around their circular edges like beads. The hardened base of the sea flower corresponds to a skeleton in a higher order of animal, even though in some anemones the hardness may only be relative.
Coral animals of the sea anemone order reproduce their kind in several ways. One is by ova, which develop perfect polyps within the parent flower. Another mode is by budding; still another by fission. In the latter method a new mouth may form beside the old one in the center of a fringed disk, which then divides into disks, each surrounded by its own tentacles and each leading to its own closed sac. In the budding process branches are thrown out, from which spring new polyps. Tear one polyp to pieces, and each piece may reproduce all the parts it needs to form a fresh polyp.
The familiar tree coral is the result of the budding process. The branches below are the dead skeletons, above which the living polyps have mounted. The singular convolutions in "brain coral" were caused by fission, one mouth giving rise to strings of others, which never completely separated from each other, and so left a continuous line of stony skeletons. It must not be supposed, however, that zoophytes of the style of sea anemones are the only coral producers. Some calcareous secretions are left by animals related to the medusa, or jellyfish. Other corals come from the bryozoans, which look like polyps, but really belong to the subkingdom of mollusks. The bottom of the sea is largely covered with deposits from such animals. It is even believed that in early times they made up the greater part of limestone strata. Mention must also be made of the beautiful and brilliant corallines, or vegetable corals, calcareous seaweeds, which look like red, white and yellow branched coral, but which, properly speaking, are algae.
Corals of some kinds are found in all seas. Those stony formations popularly called corals are mostly produced within the tropics. Probably the variety best known is the red or pink coral, long esteemed for ornaments. This was found in the Mediterranean from a very early period. Now, however, it has become so rare as to be practically extinct.
The specimens of coral seen in museums and private collections are of course masses of dead skeletons. Hard as rock they are, as might be expected, when it is remembered that the famous reefs of Florida and the Pacific Islands are built up of them—no credit to the animals, however, despite the old tale. Yet if the antiquated moral be lost, the study of the calcareous formation is none the less interesting.
There is the fungus coral, a dull gray in color and shaped somewhat as the umbrella of a mushroom, with ridges running from the long mouthlike center to the edge. The lace coral, of a pure white, with delicate wheels, indicates the radiate structure of each animal when alive. The frost coral, just as dainty as its popular name implies, shows a mossy grove of tiny upright spires. The organ pipe coral is a tree form, with smooth, round, nearly perpendicular branches.
Perhaps the museum also contains specimens of fossil coral from the deserts of Arizona or Mississippi valleys. Are you surprised to learn that a great part of our continent is underlaid with corals produced thousands of years ago by animals long extinct? In many of these dull brown formations can still be traced the radiate character of the skeletons.—San Francisco Chronicle.
